Select Opponent In Practice Mode

Tired of taking on Fulgore in the Practice mode? If you want a different fighter for your punching bag, first select the Practice mode with Controller II. Choose a fighter, then press Start twice to return to the title screen. Now select Practice mode with Controller I and start a practice session as you normally would. Presto!

Who do I want to face in the arena today? Jago, perhaps?

I was getting tired of looking at Fulgore's ugly mug!

Rookies And Strange People

As it turns out, there are a lot more secret players in NBA Live '96 than we were originally led to believe. This time around, we've got some great rookies and a few odd players, too. To add any of these people to any team, select the Edit Players option from the Roster Setup menu. Highlight a player and enter any name from the list below. The player's stats will change to match those of the person you've named. If a name includes a first initial, make sure that there's one space between the period and the last name.

Special Password

This password gives you access to a special "boss only" game. You'll battle the major foes from all four stages in turn without having to deal with their pesky underlings. All other game elements, including bombs and the various skull items, remain the same.

Enter 1, 2, 9 and 8 as your password.

Even at the lowest difficulty level, these guys are nasty!

URBAN STRIKE

The connection between Black Pearl and Electronic Arts continues with Urban Strike for Game Boy. The version sent to Pak Watch represents less than 100% of the game, but it played pretty well. As in the Super NES Urban Strike, and previous Strike games, you command a military chopper along with a co-pilot/gunner/winch operator. Your job is to blow up military targets and rescue civilians and friendly agents. The sub-screen includes your mission data, maps and flight console. Black Pearl hopes to release the latest Strike game by this fall.

WILLIAMS MAKES THE GAMES

Williams Entertainment will continue to be a force to reckon with on the Super NES this fall when they release three new titles. Ultimate Mortal Kombat 3, as Pak Watch reported earlier in the year, will headline the Williams' lineup, but NBA Hang Time, based on the new arcade hit, should be an equally powerful title. According to Williams, the arcade game collected three times the business of the next largest hit in its test markets. NBA Hang Time goes beyond NBA Jam in the use of incredible moves from NBA players. The third title under development at Williams is more of a surprise, but a welcome one. Arcade Classics reprises a number of classic arcade games on the Super NES at a low price point of $29.95. Arcade Classics will include Joust, Defender I and II, Robotron and Sinistar. The arcade game translations will be perfect for the Super NES. The only thing missing is the slot for quarters. Mike Rubinelli at Williams explained that the company feels that Super NES owners want a selection of A+ super titles and low-priced titles. Sounds sound to us.
